The admissions to Hospital show a very considerable increase this y.ar, and this is mearly entirely due to the great increase in private paying patients and the demand is greatly in excess of the capacity of this portion of the establishment. To supply very many who would have been gi d to be in the first class of pay no nationte have had to be content with second class secommodation, and many have had to be turned away. The thoroughly efficient trained nursing staff has greatly increased this demand. Many penple, who under the former system of half-trained oribed. European and Chinese nurses would never have thought of applying for accommodations, are now suxious to be received.
